

Thank-a-Prof Thank-a-TA

December 23, 2022

Dear Andrea Ciccarone,

You are receiving this letter because you facilitated a memorable learning experience.

On December 1, 2022, the Columbia University Center for Teaching and Learning (CTL) received the following thank you note from a former student of yours in your Fall2022 “ECONGR5410_001_2022_3 - MATH METHODS FOR ECONOMISTS” course, via our online Thank-a-Prof | Thank-a-TA submission:

I will fail this course if it wasn't you being our TA. Thank you so much for all the patience and kind and detailed explanations for the coursework!

– Anonymous student

In Spring 2019, the CTL launched the Thank-a-Prof | Thank-a-TA initiative as part of the annual Celebration for Teaching and Learning Symposium. In recognition of the many professors and TAs across the University, this initiative provides Columbia students with an opportunity to show their appreciation for those who have impacted their learning.

Thank you for your contributions to the University's culture of excellence in teaching and learning!

Sincerely,

Your colleagues at the
Columbia University Center for Teaching and Learning

 COLUMBIA | CTL
Center for Teaching and Learning

P.S. For details about this Thank-a-Prof | Thank-a-TA initiative, email the CTL at ColumbiaCTL+TY@columbia.edu or visit ctl.columbia.edu/thank-a-prof for more information.